Baseball Meeting

The meeting of the Twin-Towns Athletic Association at the Norway Municipal Court Rooms Friday evening was well attended and everything all set for the coming baseball season.

President L. M. Carroll presided and during his opening remarks, commented on the absence of the Norway merchants who are usually behind every move to advertise and attract business. He complimented two who were present for their interest in finding good fellowship with so large a representation of the local sporting fraternity. Mr. Carroll briefly outlined the season's plans so far as they have been made. According to the speaker, the weekly salary list will not exceed $450. Players' salary will go on a sliding scale according to positions in the field. If possible the team will have a schedule including a wide circuit over Maine and only strong clubs will be considered.

In motion of Walter L. Gray of South Paris, a vote was carried to have eleven directors, three to be the president, secretary and treasurer of the Association, and four others from each town, as follows: From South Paris, nominated by Percy F. Ripley, Robert Wheeler, Walter L. Gray, Esq., Leslie L. Mason, Irving O. Barrows. From Norway, nominated by S. O. Jellerson, Hon. B. G. McIntire, Frank E. Decoster, Llewellyn H. Cushman, Frank P. Stone.

President Carroll opened the meeting for informal discussion, remarks or "dope" as he expressed it. Figures of last year's work showed $1,620, had been received in subscriptions, leaving approximately $500 on hand. Between sixty and seventy dollars was spent for gravel and clay for the diamond and hauled there last fall, leaving better than $400 in the bank for the coming season. Probably more funds will be raised this year at the beginning to make the Association safe. Not a rain storm upset the regular schedule last summer, a condition which may never occur again and the officials believe more cash should be available on the start, in the light of past experience. Last year the team was launched on low price organizations. This season with West Paris and Oxford not in the game as reported, greater expense will jump in on the start, to secure more distant organizations. The drift of the talk pointed toward a drive for subscriptions about the middle of May, with the funds banked before the opening game on June 17.

Secretary Stephen O. Jellerson gave all the "dope" he had received from the players to date. Ralph C. Masterman of Kent's Hill and Carl S. Fuller, principal of Buckfield High School, will be the managers and in full control with the directors. Houghton and Hunt will do the hurling; Masterman backstop; Fuller, short stop; "Pidie" Purinton, left; Loud, right. Kiville may not return as he expects to attend summer school; "Whitie" has a bigger job so may not appear; McDonald's ankle is on the "bum" and he may not accept a place. Bismarck is awaiting the verdict of a specialist regarding his "glass" arm. If the "wing" is called O. K. he will be retained by the Clevelanders, otherwise he would play somewhere in Maine. Carl Emery and Pitcher Benson of West Paris will be taken on trial with the expectation they will become regulars. Emery will scout around third and Benson played in the center garden.

Several well known baseball artists have written for positions and Mr. Jellerson stated the Twin Towns would have no trouble securing a rapid fire line-up. The fact that Ralph Masterman and Carl Fuller have voluntarily reduced their salaries, despite increased responsibilities, was gratifying to the officials, and they went on record as deeply appreciating the sensible stand taken at this time.

The meeting was a keen display of enthusiasm from start to finish with everybody on tip toes for a long run of keen sport during the coming summer. The association plans to make July 4th a red letter day at the fair grounds.

Ralph Andrews who successfully carried off the part of end man in the recent minstrel show has a problem and is asking the question "who passed up the cabbage?" This article of diet was presented across the foot-lights Friday evening and Ralph has since been playing Sherlock Holmes. He makes this statement, "If the parties now unknown to me will confess through the Advertiser I will furnish the best supper possible." Who's guilty yet appreciates a tight waist band?

W. A. Bicknell is in charge of the assignees sale at the Norway Lake Supply Co. A large variety of clean cut goods are offered at a "moving quickly" price. Read his ad in this paper when you get your mail.

A meeting of the Firemen's Relief Association will be held in Engine Hall, Friday evening at 7:30. This will be an open meeting and all interested may drop in.

Lowell Cleveland has moved his household goods to Farmington, N. H. where he has bought a house and an acre of land. He is there locating his goods and the family will go later.

A social and dance will be held Tuesday evening, May 2 at the Grange Hall for the pupils of Mrs. Marguerite Johnson and her friends. Mrs. Johnson who has been giving dancing lessons here this spring plans to continue her classes here another season.

Mrs. and Mr. Randall O. Porter and Emma Elizabeth of Rumford had their first trip to Norway Sunday and spent the day with Mrs. Porter's sister, Miss Mercy Millett.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Noyes who have spent the winter in the North returned home Friday.

Mrs. Hugh Pendexter entertained the Barton Reading Club Thursday afternoon.

Tag day Saturday for the Salvation Army netted $100.00. Girls from the high school were given sections of the village and met with good results.

The farmer boys or "aggies" in the agricultural class at Norway High School have time for sports between class work and chores. A ball team has been organized as follows: Capt. and catcher, George Young; Manager and 2nd base, Ervin Cummings; Pitcher, Alvo Rich; 3rd base, 1st base Lester Richardson; 2nd base, Bill Smith; ss, Harold Thurston; 1st base, Norman Annis; cf, A. Packard; 2nd base, Fred Perry; 3rd base, Fred Perry. They played their first game at Crockett Ridge against the men's team and lost by a score of 13-12.

Black and White Revue

Crowded houses greeted the American Legion Minstrels at Norway Opera House Thursday and Friday evenings. The show was a complete success with nothing lacking to make a complete minstrel program. A large crowd saw the show on Friday evening, music being furnished by Shaw's orchestra.

The first part was a spectacular setting with the color scheme white and black, hence the name Black and White Revue. There was the regulation circle with a large chorus banked in two rows behind and above the front row. Costumes were white and black with a dash of color in the eccentric suits worn by the ends, and provided costumes and scenery, occupied the seat of honor as interlocutor and director.

The overture opened with a dash. The ends were a busy lot executing various floor movements while jingling tamborines. A novelty act with tin rattles put action into the chorus and animated the attractive picture.

The second act was an important item with many local jabs and hits passed over by the black face artists, Chester P. Gates, Ralph Andrews, Charles Whittemore, Lawrence H. Denison, Doris Merrill and Ruth Libby. Mr. McCarthy in his easy manner led the jokesmiths along, keeping the large audiences in a gale of laughter. The end songs were well rendered with some nifty stepping and action to fit the words and music.

Dorothy Goodwin and Kenneth Goodwin made a hit with their soprano duet, "Down Along Ho Hong Ho". Ernest Combellack, Ernest Cloutier, Mona Martin, and Frank Moore of Portland won the audience with their vocal selections of real merit.

The final of the first part was a surprise given by Chester P. Gates and the merry ends. A wonderful invention termed "The Wireless Telephone" was put in operation and connections made with the two unseen worlds while endeavoring to locate one of our prominent citizens. Loud explosions in the machine gave unmistakable S. O. S. when that "furnace room" was tuned in. The amazing feature of the act was the entrance of a visitor from Chicago, coming by wireless.

Regular vaudeville followed the circle with some of the best talent from Norway and South Paris represented in the eight acts. Each member was strong and well presented.

"Rastus the Raw Recruit" was a military burlesque in black face on a street with Arthur Gammann as "Rastus" and Maurice E. Prince the commanding officer. Although Rastus was decidedly green his courage never failed even when a bomb fell at his feet. A little "stuff" on his hip secured a lasting friendship with his superior.

Marguerite Frost Bowser, Eva Andrews, Evis and Dave Klein, known to the theatrical profession as "The Therapeutic Trio" presented a lively play, "A Honey-moon on Pills." This sketch featured "pills, pills, more pills and then some" leading to the brink of a near tragedy. The situations were extremely amusing but of course a general understanding smoothed everything over at the end. Eva Evis as "Jimmy" gave a pleasing song and dance during the sketch.

The Imperial Quartet comprising Frank Moore, Fred Moore, Harold E. Moore, and E. Walter Brown were well received in a repertoire of songs, with Frank Moore the tenor soloist.

The trials and tribulations of a movie director were shown by F. J. McCarthy as the camera man and his star Mrs. Irving E. Andrews. A country boy impersonated by Ralph Andrews butted in with the most awkward combinations while substituting as leading man. While the "book" failed to qualify as a screen star, he had the kissing bug until the last snack landed on the director and not where intended.

Alice Ball easily qualified as a lively toe and acrobatic dancer and gave a clean cut act. Her efforts to please brought generous applause and she responded to several encores.

Walter Pointedexter, the colored entertainer gave one of Mr. McCarthy's monologues, singing the tune with the song "Tuck Me to Sleep in My Old Tucky Bed." He was also warmly greeted and returned a number of times.

"Put and Take" was the title of the offering put across by Mr. McCarthy and Mona Martin. "Mac", an old time favorite held the stage some minutes with his crisp Irish wit telling about the peculiarities of a friend Mr. Finnigan, who had changed his name to "Mac".

"Mac" is a graduate from the old school of variety actors. He is a fine specimen of the type of comedians seen before a full fashionable vaudeville crowded the spontaneous comedy off stage. "Mac's" work is a finished product gained through many years experience with barnstormers, variety shows, circuses and better organizations. His partner Mona Martin showed her wit with a snappy cross fire ending in a song and dance, "When Frances Dances With Me". They were recalled several times and made a decided hit both evenings.

"The Indian Romance", a song and Indian dance closed the entertainment. Harold E. Moore and Louise Thomas were the principals, assisted by the Indian Maidens, Doris Klein, Ella Decoster, Helen Holt, Juliette Perry, Angelina Decoster and Frances Moore. A tape camp fire and appropriate costumes with proper electrical effects aided the vocalists in making this a strong feature act. The wicker Red Skin dance was cleverly executed.

Shaw's orchestra, six pieces played during the entire show. The members were Howard Shaw, clarinet and saxophone; Walter Stearns, violinist; Rae Newton, flute; Alice Cote, trumpet; Harley True, drums; Elizabeth Klein, pianist.

The following had a part in the Revue: Madames—E. E. Andrews, Eva Evis, Marguerite F. Bowser.

Mr. and Mrs. Mona Martin, Louise Thomas, Doris Klein, Ella Decoster, Helen Holt, Juliette Perry, Angelina Decoster, Frances Moore, and the rest of the troupe.

ette Perry, Angelina Decoster, Frances Moore, Alice Ball, Dorothy Goodwin, Ruth Libby, Doris Merrill, Virginia Hall, Elizabeth Hall, Madeline Hayden, Althea Butters, Beniah Foss, Messrs.—Chester P. Gates, Ralph Andrews, Lawrence H. Denison, Charles Whittemore, Arthur Gammann, Maurice Prince, H. E. Moore, Frank Moore, Fred Moore, H. Walter Brown, Ernest Combellack, Ernest Cloutier, Philip Young, Edward McCormack, William Ball, Leroy Lapham, Walter Pointedexter.

Mrs. McCarthy deserved a share of the praise for the success of the affair. She assisted in setting the stage and was a live wire behind the scenes each evening. A fact worthy to note is that the costumes were designed and made by Mrs. McCarthy. She keeps them in repair, renovates them after every engagement and is her husband's right hand assistant in every department except coaching the players. Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy have closed their season and will reside in Norway which is really their home.

Lake View Casino a Fact
The amusement park and dancing pavilion on the point near Crockett bridge will soon become a reality. C. H. Adams of Bridgton who purchased the real estate of Fred Kilgore will erect a Casino 50x70 feet, containing dressing rooms, refreshment rooms and a beautiful view of the lake with the White Mountain range and the park will be electrically lighted with plenty of seats around the grounds and veranda for patrons wishing rest and music. A refreshment room adjoining the Casino will be featured. Order will be preserved at all times and undesirable patronage not tolerated.

Across the highway is a field for parking automobiles with a caretaker in charge during the dancing hours. He will also keep an eye on the park at all times to avoid fire, etc.

Luella Johnson of Bridgton has the contract to erect the building and will bring his crew and camp on the lot until the work is completed.

Mr. Adams and Mr. Shaw after a consultation decided to build a wharf and enter to boating parties. They intend to make the landing accessible to all boats with plenty of room to dock easily and safely. Numerous signs and guide boards will direct strangers to the spot and there can be no mistake.

Postal Improvement Week
As designated by the Postmaster General the first week in May will be observed as Postal Improvement Week. During this period arrangements will be made at the post office for receiving suggestions for improvement of the service, furnishing information and attending to complaints.

Visitation Day will be observed on Thursday, May 4, when Postmaster F. E. Decoster and his assistants will receive visitors for a public inspection of the entire local postal business. The hours have been set between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. During this time the system of handling the mail can be observed and information gladly furnished.

Charles Hutton and family have moved from the Woodman rent on Cottage St. to the Schenk cottage on Pike Hill.

Miss Edith M. Smith is having her house on Cottage street shingled.

Edith Jordan, who has been spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Lawrence H. Denison, left Sunday morning, for Albany, N. Y., where she is one of the faculty of the Boys' Academy, preparatory department. Miss Jordan has been spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jordan at North Bridgton.

Mary Jones has been spending the past week at J. E. Marston's Norway Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Moses P. Stiles of Portland spent Tuesday in town, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Cummings.

May ball at Norway Grange hall Thursday evening, May 4. Shaw's Orchestra of six pieces will attend.

Fred Perry has bought the W. Frank Crockett stand on Crescent street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Murch, who have been seriously ill the past ten days, are gaining.

Frank Jewell was overcome on the street late Monday afternoon and removed to his boarding place. One side is affected and a slight shock is feared. He is confined to his room and under medical care.

Some twenty covers were laid at a dinner given to the boys' and girls' basket ball teams at the Alberts Wednesday evening at 7:30. The family and several guests also attended. Bert Shorey offered one of his best menus and a delightful hour was passed. Brief remarks were made by the coaches, Anna B. Longfellow and John Cusick. A theatre party at the Rex concluded the evening's entertainment.

Grammar school will hold a social at the gymnasium on Friday evening. The small admission asked will be for the benefit of the grammar school ball team.

Ned Shepard of Auburn is here preparing the Shepard Camps for the opening within a few weeks. He has a new truck carrying the sign, "Shepard's Camps, Norway," for general business.

Fred M. Davis and family spent Wednesday evening with Newell Andrews' family at Bisbetown. They made the trip with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hosmer, returning about midnight.

Mrs. Sarah B. Heath, who has been attending the winter school at Bangor, returned to her home at Danforth St. Noble's Corner, this week. Mrs. Heath is 86 and enjoys the quiet life alone on the farm during the summer.

Joseph Morrill has a new Studebaker roadster.

BASEBALL

Norway High 9; Gould's Academy 3
Norway High won over Gould's Academy at the fair grounds Saturday in a closely played game until the blow-up in the seventh inning. The teams were neck and neck after the first whack with prospects of a dead lock at the finish. A string of hits by Norway and a handful of errors passed over by the visitors in the seventh, decided the contest. Gould's secured the big string of hits but lacked the follow up business. Bartlett's generosity in passing runners gave Norway the advantage when their hitting went flat and was partly responsible for the landslide in the wild inning. The score:

Crooker-Holt
A wedding that came as a surprise occurred Saturday afternoon when Helen S. Holt and George F. Crooker were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Chester G. Miller, pastor of the First Universalist Church, the double ring service being used.

The bride wore her traveling suit of navy blue. The attendants were Linda Martin and Mr. Winslow. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Crooker left for a short trip. They will make their home in Norway.

Mrs. Crooker is the oldest daughter of Mrs. Annie and the late Hiram Holt. The family came to Norway from North Waterford several years ago and Helen has been student at high school. The groom is the son of Mrs. Angie Crooker and is a graduate of Norway High School class of 1920. He is employed at the Carroll-Jellerson Shoe Company.

Received Appointment
The appointment was made known Tuesday of George A. Yeaton of Chelsea, nine years county agent of Oxford County located at Norway to succeed Frank H. Dudley of Auburn as State horticulturist. Since the resignation of Mr. Dudley a few weeks ago, Mr. Yeaton has been acting horticulturist. For two years he was in charge at Highmore Farm at Monmouth, and has a wide acquaintance and is also familiar with the horticultural conditions over the State.

THAT BAD BACK

Do you have a dull, steady ache in the small of the back—sharp, stabbing twinges when stooping or lifting—distressing urinary disorders? For bad back and weakened kidneys Norway residents recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Norway statement.

Mrs. Mary Gammon, Maple St., says: "I have kept Doan's Kidney Pills in my home for years. I had a dull, heavy ache across the small of my back and often attacks of dizziness came over me. Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at the Kimball Drug Store relieved me of this trouble. I use Doan's Kidney Pills off and on as a kidney tonic and I couldn't wish for anything better to keep my kidneys in a healthy condition." (Statement given June 7, 1916.)

On September 4, 1920, Mrs. Gammon said: "I always have a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills since they cured me of kidney trouble and I am pleased to again give my endorsement. I confirm all I said in my former statement."

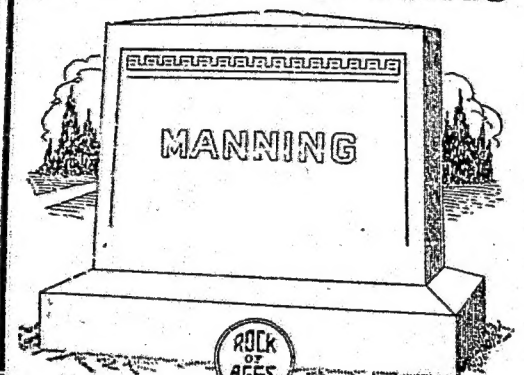

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gammon had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

AWAY WITH TROUBLE.

We do not need to borrow Our trouble for the worry; We'll find enough to worry us before we're through today; We waste our time in fretting Over what's to come, forgetting The goodness and the gladness that are spread along the way.

This casting up of trouble Will only make it double; Will only wilt the flowers that are sweet Along the road; This being always tearful Instead of waxing cheerful Because of what has gone will only add unto our load. —Exchange.

AGED BUZZARD THOUGHT DEAD

Bird, Marked in War of 1812, Present at Every Big Engagement Since Then.

The famous "belled buzzard," known to be more than one hundred years old, is believed to be dead. A few days ago it was seen on the farm of W. H. Leach, near the mouth of Second creek, West Virginia. It looked to be greatly emaciated and ready to give up its widely-known career.

This buzzard has a small sleigh bell tied around its neck, which was said to have been placed there during the war of 1812. The bird had wars as its hobby, and is said to have been present at every battle of size north of the equator. It has been seen as far south as Peru, although its summers were generally spent in the mountains of West Virginia. During the Mexican trouble, several years ago, it spent two consecutive summers on the border.

Members of the Leach family saw the bird flying low, with a number of other buzzards accompanying it. It was noticed that the bird had got its beak fastened behind the leather strap which supported the bell, and seemed unable to release itself. An attempt was made to release the buzzard's head, but it became frightened and flew away. It is felt certain that the bird has since died.

Rental $1,000 a Room.

What is said to be the most expensive apartment house in New York city and that means in the world, has been sold. It is at Fifth avenue and Sixty-third street. There are twelve tenants. Each family has a floor. Each floor has twenty-two rooms and ten baths. The rentals go as high as $30,000 a year. Among the tenants are Robert Goetz, C. K. G. Billings, Alexander Smith Cochran and H. Mortimer Brooks. An average of $1,000 a room a year, exclusively of bathroom, is paid by the twelve lessees. That is pretty high for bare rooms. One tenant is reported to have spent $250,000 fitting up his apartment. An idea of the magnificence of the apartments may be had from the statement that the floors are of black walnut.—From Commerce and Finance.

NOT WHAT IT WAS "This back-door begging ain't what it was." "Naw, dead not old pal." "No. With a garage on every lot, you don't git no hand out until you've washed a couple of wheels or pumped up a few tires."

An Extraordinary Wound. An extraordinary illustration of how hard to kill are some men is given in the Lancet (London) by Dr. H. J. Fry. A British soldier was hit by a German bullet on the left side of the abdomen. The bullet gouged the surface of the external iliac artery, penetrated the internal iliac vein, passed up this to the heart, passed through the heart and lodged in the left branch of the pulmonary artery. An X-ray photograph did not show it; there was no pain near the heart, but the left leg became gangrenous from its circulation being cut off and was amputated ten days after the wound was received. Finally the patient went into shock and died. He had survived this extraordinary wound a whole month.

Two "Classes" Dwindling. One fact stands out from all birth rate investigations—that the "middle" and "upper" classes show the heaviest decline both in this country and abroad, says the London Daily Mail. Attempts have been made to counteract this tendency by legislation, especially in the United States, but so far without any real success. It may be connected with the disinclination of highly educated women to sacrifice independence in marriage and also with the ever-growing burden of taxation which is everywhere being laid on these classes.

Movies Immune. "Of course," said Film Fannie, "a white paper shortage may be something annoying for a time. Yet how thankful we ought to be—" "Yes! For what?" "That it isn't a celluloid shortage." Egotism often masquerades as modesty without fooling anybody.

GREENWOOD, MAINE

There's a homely little place In the plain green hills With boulders covered o'er; It doesn't run a race With the city mills And the wolf doesn't scratch at its door. There's a sleepy little stream And a sparkling little pond And the sky is blue above; It's lots of fun to dream Of the world beyond Where people never know true love. There are crooked old trees Where the birds don't fear To make their nests of twigs And the lady little breeze That stops around here Is to cool the cows and pigs. In the houses gray Really live as people should Tell their dry old jokes On the sunny days From their minds so clean and good. —STANLEY BARLETT.

A CUMBERSOME THING

While it looks very much as if both parties were excessively tired of that device in the electoral machinery, termed the Primary, and have "resolved" to drop it, don't disremember brethren, that from the date of resolve to enactment of new legislation, "it's a long time between." The "monstrosity" is surely with us all this year, and possibly a couple of years longer. So, we admonish let's this year give the Primary a fair trial, and instruct the women just how to handle the machine. Possibly they may conclude it's the only mode known under the present conditions, to secure that great desideratum, "government of, for, and by the people" to which Abraham Lincoln was so solicitous, says the Bridgton News. The women reason this way, "The sooner the monster is attack just so much sooner will the end be,—just so much sooner will we be freed."

PORTER

Farms Change Hands. If all plans come true there will be a number of new neighbors in this vicinity this summer. A few changes are being made already. Orion Black has sold his farm known as the Stanley farm and Noyes Norton and his son, Earl. They expect to move in this week. Ralph McAllister, who is occupying the farm house at present will move into the James Black house. The Ed Lord farmhouse with a part of the land owned by Messrs. Stearns and Giles has been sold to a party from Portland. It is expected they will arrive this week. The Alphonse O'Brien farm has been sold to Boston parties and will be occupied within the next few weeks. We welcome them to our neighborhood and wish them success.

Oliver S. Chapman and Fred Tucker started for Lynn, Mass. Sunday morning by auto, April 24.

Miss Jinks of Boston, Mass. is visiting her sister, Mrs. Sheridan Fox for a week. Nelson D. Chapman, who has been visiting his cousins for six weeks has returned to Brownfield.

The children at Pine Grove Farm desiring ice cream on Sunday, went out in search of ice or a substitute. They found some birch stumps left from this winter's wood cutting. For some days the sap had been flowing quite freely from these stumps and during the cold weather of the past few days had frozen into thick chunks. An ample supply of ice was soon gathered. This was our first experience in making ice cream with birch sap, but it tasted just as good.

Curtis Chapman has been hauling his supply of Bradley's Fertilizer from the freight agent's to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wales of Portland, one of the parties who recently bought the Fernald Keene farm were at W. F. Smith's over Sunday. They come occasionally doing jobs of improving, hoping to be able to move on to the place in June. They plan to make several changes which will make it more convenient for filling the house with summer borders.

Mr. and Mrs. Verner Smith and Mr. and Mrs. James Wright of West Paris visited Verner's parents Sunday.

George, Amy and Auriette Losier were week end guests of their parents.

Frederick Robie Grange

Frederick Robie Grange held their regular meeting last Saturday night. The first and second degrees were conferred on a class of five candidates. After the usual routine of business a very interesting program was given consisting of: Piano solo.....Roland Annis Banjo solo.....Alfred Tyler Music with banjo, dumb bells and piano. Song.....N. Green and Alfred Tyler A mock trial of a breach of promise case, tried before Judge and Jury was the most interesting feature, proving gentlemen's night was well observed. About 70 were present. The chorus of gentlemen sang "Good Night Ladies" for closing number on the program. It was unanimously decided if "Ladies Night" was better observed than "Gentlemen's Night" the ladies would have to hustle.

ONE SUBSCRIBER'S OPINION RELATIVE TO POOR CHURCH ATTENDANCE

A subject has been brought to my attention quite forcibly two or three times lately, which I believe is perhaps more important than many people realize. Even those people whom it affects more directly seem to give it only a passing thought.

As I feel that I have seen what appears to be a partial solution to the problem, I would like to express my opinion on the matter as I see it.

Some time ago I read an article in one of the local papers which touched upon the subject indirectly, but while attending Church recently I heard the pastor say, in connection with an appeal for better church attendance, "I am going to find out why the men don't come to Church." For a moment I felt surprised that this preacher did not know, or at least partly realize the answer to his question from experience as I understand that he has taught the Word in several states; but upon second thought I felt it possible that our New England Conservatism is more widespread than I had at first imagined. New England Conservatism may not have anything to do with it, but until recently I have felt that it did, and I am not fully convinced to the contrary as yet.

I was raised in New England and never left the State of Maine except for a few days at a time until I was twenty-three years old, and I never had missed any cordiality in my welcome upon entering a church where I was a stranger, as I probably was as full of New England Conservatism as everybody else. I am about to cite a few personal experiences which occurred at the time I left home and went to the Middle West in our neighboring country on the North. I cite these instances simply to offer a little food for thought to those who are interesting themselves in so vital a question as to why churches are not attended by any but the "Old Standbys."

I went to a town of about 5000 inhabitants to obtain employment. It is a common everyday manufacturing town with nothing to especially recommend it above any of its neighboring towns, except perhaps that it is known to have an extra good High School, a notably fine hospital, and several most excellent churches which are well attended.

I landed in this town one afternoon after a long and tedious trip by rail from my home in Maine, and when I handed the baggage master the checks for my trunks I received my first surprise. He took the checks and looked at them, then at me, and said "You have come a long way. Going to stop long?" "As I expect employment here I may stop for some time," I replied. "Then you had better leave your baggage right here with me. I'll take good care of it, and when you find a place to stay telephone up and I will send your trunks right up to your room," was his reply.

It seemed at the time that he was putting himself to considerable trouble for a stranger, but as I became more acquainted in the town I understood it better.

I left my trunk checks with him and proceeded down town, the business section of which is perhaps a five minute walk from the station; and when I was about half way down town I met a man who looked at me closely, passed by, stopped, then turned and addressed me. "Good afternoon. You appear to be a stranger here."

"Yes, sir, I replied, I have just arrived. "Going to stop long?" he asked. I may, possibly I shall work here. "Is that so. Where are you going to stay?" I don't yet know as I just arrived on the train, I replied.

These questions struck me as being somewhat personal, but he asked them as if he fully expected me to answer them as a commonplace. He directed me to two good hotels, told me their prices, and then passed on.

I soon arrived at the business section of the town and while passing the office of a Real Estate and Insurance Agency, Mr. C., Pres. of the Company, who was on the sidewalk and about to enter his office, looked at me for a moment, spoke to me and asked me if I wasn't a stranger in the town. I replied that I was. I will now quote the dialogue which followed. "Going to stop long?" I expected to. "Where are you going to stay?" A gentleman up the street directed me to a hotel. "Yes, but you don't want to stay at a hotel indefinitely, it will cost you too much. Do you want to know of some good private home where you can get room and board?" "Yes, I would," I replied. He gave me directions for finding two homes where he thought I could find room and board. "Now, if you can't get in there come right back here and I will find a place for you myself. What Church do you belong to?" I wondered if this last question had anything to do with the room and board, but I told him I hadn't joined any Church as yet. "Then come down to our Church next Sunday, will you?" "It is the Baptist Church down on B—Street," I'll see," I replied, "I'm hardly well enough acquainted yet to know if I would go to church or not." "That's what we want you to come for, to get acquainted. Promise me you will be down next Sunday." "All right," I said, "I will promise."

I went to the first place Mr. C. recommended and obtained room and board at Mrs. L.'s. When I was later introduced to Mr. L. he said, "You have a good Scotch name, are you Presbyterian?" "No," I replied, "I never was a Presbyterian church." "Well, Mrs. L. and our son who is about your age belong to the Presbyterian Church here and we will want you to go right up with us next Sunday. Will you do it?" I replied that I had already promised a Mr. C. up the street that I would attend the Baptist Church next Sunday. "Well, we come next then. You will get out of the Baptist church at twelve, our Sunday School begins at twelve fifteen, you will have time to come over before we begin. Now will you come? It will help you to get acquainted."

"This began to seem novel, so I promised them I would do it."

A young man, Mr. H., who roomed there overheard our conversation and broke in at this point with "Where does my Church come in? Maybe he would rather go to the Methodist Church with me." I would like to attend your church sometime, I said. "Then you must attend the evening service with me next Sunday, a whole bunch of young men of our age will be there and I will make you acquainted with them all."

Thus it was that I attended three churches on the first Sunday I was in that town, and by so doing I met scores of people, many of whom I later came into business contact. To make this story complete, I wish to tell about my first visit to the Baptist church that Sunday. I entered the outer door and was at once accosted by an elderly gentleman

Subscriber's Opinion Church Attendance who asked me if I was the new stranger Mr. C. spoke about. I said "I guess I am." "Then come right in." As soon as I introduced you to some of these young men and our Pastor I will take you right down to my pew, and Mr. C. will be right there with his word, "I know He was as good as his word, and before I left that church I felt that I knew almost everyone present. My welcome in the other two churches was practically a repetition of the above.

I lived in this town for nearly two years and I tried to wear my welcome out in those churches but it couldn't be done.

Now comes the more painful part of my story. I returned to Maine, and soon after came to the town where I am now residing. After getting my furniture settled in my new home I decided I would go out to church and get acquainted with some of the people. No one had asked me to come so I didn't know at what hour services were held, but I tackled one of the best known churches and found the inner door closed and the church empty. I could hear music coming from the basement so I went to the basement door and entered a sort of corridor from which two doors opened. I opened one and found myself in the midst of a Bible Class in Sunday School running in high gear. This class was in a small room by itself, and every one in that class, including the Pastor who was conducting the class, stopped short and stared at me without speaking or moving. After a moment I withdrew and closed the door, and in a moment more I could hear the class arguments begin again.

After waiting a few minutes to see if someone would come out and put me right, I tried the next door which took me into the regular vestry. Two or three grades of Sunday School classes were in full progress here, but a little determination on my part exerted itself and I walked up the aisle and took a seat near the back. This "break" was absolutely ignored except for a glance or two perhaps. Sunday School was soon over, and after a few minutes services began. No one came near me to offer me a hymn book or to welcome me, and I was even without contribution time, something I little expected. After services were over I went out but as the Pastor was in the center of a little group near the piano I didn't add even him to my list of acquaintances by this visit.

I left my trunk checks with him and proceeded down town, the business section of which is perhaps a five minute walk from the station; and when I was about half way down town I met a man who looked at me closely, passed by, stopped, then turned and addressed me. "Good afternoon. You appear to be a stranger here."

"Yes, sir, I replied, I have just arrived. "Going to stop long?" he asked. I may, possibly I shall work here. "Is that so. Where are you going to stay?" I don't yet know as I just arrived on the train, I replied.

"Then you must attend the evening service with me next Sunday, a whole bunch of young men of our age will be there and I will make you acquainted with them all."

Thus it was that I attended three churches on the first Sunday I was in that town, and by so doing I met scores of people, many of whom I later came into business contact. To make this story complete, I wish to tell about my first visit to the Baptist church that Sunday. I entered the outer door and was at once accosted by an elderly gentleman

Frank Grover with a crew of men from East Stoneham are repairing the roads. Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McKen returned from Auburn Saturday. Mr. McKen is gaining slowly.

Louise Trimbach of North Lovell is at work for Mrs. I. A. Andrews.

Wm. Adams is in very poor health. Mrs. Adams is at work for Mrs. H. W. Adams.

H. M. Andrews had a party of fishermen from Massachusetts and a party from Bethel last week at his camp.

I. A. Andrews had a large party of fishermen at Cliffwood last week and nine teen nice salmon were taken during the week.

W. H. Brown has finished sawing birch at his mill here and returned to his home at North Waterford.

East Stoneham, Maine, March 15, 1922

To the Honorable County Commissioners of the County of Oxford:

Virginia Brent Jones commorant at East Stoneham, in the County of Oxford, respectfully petitions your Honorable body and shews:

1. That she is the owner of a certain piece or parcel of land situated in the town of Stoneham, and bounded and described as follows, to wit: A certain piece of land to be used as a Public Landing, laid out for the use of the town of Stoneham by the Selectmen thereof, which said land upon which the landing is to be located is on the Eastern side of Virginia Lake in said Stoneham, on the end of the road laid out by said Municipal officers of said town September 16, 1921, said landing to extend from the Northern end of said road Southernly along said road one hundred (100) feet; thence Westernly at right angles to said road to low water mark, said Lake; thence Northernly along said water line one hundred (100) feet, and thence to the place of beginning.

2. That on the 9th day of February, 1922, the Selectmen of the town of Stoneham caused the inhabitants of the town of Stoneham, qualified to vote in town affairs to assemble at the schoolhouse in the village of East Stoneham, in said County of Oxford, on the 18th day of February, 1922, to see if they would act upon the petition of A. E. Nelson and twelve others to lay out a public landing on the 18th day of February, 1922, in pursuance of said notice given as aforesaid, the voters of said town met at the place specified in the petition and of the town of Stoneham for the consideration of the voters of said town. And your petitioner further shews that the voters of said town voted in said town meeting to build a public landing on the land aforesaid, described, and to raise the sum of ten ($10.00) dollars to pay the land taxes thereon, which said amount was used by the Selectmen in the laying out of said road aforesaid, and the undersigned of the said town of Stoneham so taken.

3. That your petitioner further shews that the Selectmen did not lawfully lay out said road at the end of which they seek to establish the public landing or wharf.

4. And your petitioner further shews that the authority to lay out the road leading to the location of the said public landing or wharf, that the Selectmen of said town and said road, or authority to lay out the public landing where they did or in the manner they did.

5. That the road leading to said landing site so located by the Selectmen of the town and the town is entirely unnecessary, and so is the landing mentioned and described, and from this petition an appeal is entered because the road is unnecessary, and the landing is unnecessary, and the road leading thereto was merely a subterfuge to obtain under this petition certain shore rights in Virginia Lake.

6. That the laying out of said landing from which this appeal is taken, is all on the private property of the undersigned.

WHEREFORE YOUR PETITIONER PRAYS: That you will give notice to all interested persons in manner provided by law, and on hearing will decide that public necessity or convenience does not require the establishing of the public landing attempt to be laid out by said town, and mentioned above, and that public necessity and convenience does not require the establishing of any road leading thereto.

East Stoneham, Me. October 29, 1921.

To the Honorable County Commissioners of the County of Oxford, Virginia Brent Jones, commorant at East Stoneham in the County of Oxford, respectfully petitions your Honorable body and shews:

1. That she is the owner of a certain piece or parcel of land situated in the town of Stoneham, and bounded and described as follows, to wit:

Commencing at a point on the highway running from East Stoneham to near Virginia Lake, at a point N. 54 degrees 30 E. three (3) rods and ten links from the center of the bridge crossing the outlet of Virginia Lake, thence N. 17 degrees East, 5 rods 10 1/2 links; thence North 5 degrees East 10 rods 10 1/2 links; thence North 30 degrees West 10 rods and three links; thence North 4 degrees 30' East 7 rods and 8 links; thence North 11 degrees East 10 rods and three links; thence North thirty minutes East 8 rods and nineteen links; thence North 23 degrees West 9 rods and twenty-two links which is the center of said road; these courses are the center line of the way and is three rods wide for the first course and distance (viz. 5 rods, 10 1/2 link). For the remainder of the distance it is the center line of a three rod road on the easterly side of course given and on the westerly side of courses given it goes to the water of Virginia Lake.

2. That on the twenty-fourth day of September, 1921, the Selectmen of the Town of Stoneham caused the inhabitants of the Town of Stoneham, qualified to vote in town affairs to assemble at the schoolhouse in the village of East Stoneham, in said County of Oxford, on the 4th day of October, 1921, to see if they would vote to accept the town way as laid out by the Selectmen on the tenth day of September, 1921, which said way was the same described in paragraph one of this petition.

3. And your petitioner shews that on said Fourth day of October, 1921, said inhabitant did meet at the place aforesaid, at the time aforesaid, and did vote to build said road and did vote to raise the sum of $100.00, at annual meeting in March, and did vote to raise Fifty dollars to build said road at annual meeting in March.

4. And your petitioner alleges that the Selectmen did not lay out said road on September 24, 1921, in accordance with said vote; but that said road was laid out in August without any petition therefor.

5. That the said Selectmen had no right or authority to lay out said road as mentioned and described herein.

6. And your petitioner is entirely unnecessary, and its pretended laying out was a subterfuge merely to obtain under this proceedings certain shore rights in Virginia Lake.

7. That the said road was laid out or attempted to be laid out without any justification or authority, and laid out on the private property of this petitioner without right, necessity or justice.

8. Wherefore your petitioner prays that you will give notice to all interested persons in the manner provided by law, and on hearing will decide that public necessity or convenience does not require the establishing of the road as attempted to be laid by said Selectmen.

STRIKE LASTED SIX YEARS

Railroad Walkout That Began In 1914 Has Only Recently Been Officially Called Off.

Here is a railroad strike that ran through a world war; stood complacently by while almost the entire complexion of the eastern hemisphere underwent changes, and might still be running had not the strike committee suddenly thought of it, and decided it officially over. Another strange thing about the strike is that no one knew anything about it until it was over.

The strike began March 18, 1914, when 750 freight trainmen laid down their brake sticks in the various terminals of the Monongahela division of the Pennsylvania railroad, declaring for improved working conditions and protesting the reduction of train crew.

"It was an outlaw strike," said an official of the Pennsylvania railroad, "and was ended by the railroad brotherhoods two weeks after its inception." The strike might have been ended, but the strike committee never declared it officially off until a meeting the other night.

Most of the men, it is understood, who went out, returned to work years ago.

Community Chautauqua

Loring J. Whiteside, president of the Community Chautauqua Inc. announces to the Norway-South Paris Association the dates, August 2-8 for the big week at Oxford County fair grounds.

The change from dates in July was brought about through the action of the local Association, to accommodate a large number unable to attend the entire course because of farm work.

Through the efforts of President E. N. Swett and others, the dates were suggested before the committee was routed, and Mr. Whiteside gladly made the necessary arrangements.

In his letter Mr. Whiteside says: "In keeping with the new spirit of optimism prevailing general business conditions, the program offered you this year is the strongest we have ever built. The talent is of the higher grade, therefore more expensive to secure than we have ever before obtained." The local association will not be asked to bear any additional expense, but will receive the high class artists as good measure, above and beyond the fine quality intimated during the last Chautauqua week.

The following lectures, artists and musical organizations will appear:

The Mordog Company, 3 people, headed by Pietro Mordoglia. An evening of Italian and Russian music.

The Manila Quartet, two concertos featuring Philippine vocal and instrumental music.

Lecture—"China in the World Drama," by Dr. William Hung, a son of the former governor of the famous Shantung province.

"The Mikado," Gilbert & Sullivan's light opera, elaborately costumed and staged by a professional cast selected especially for the Chautauqua production.

"Songs and Ballads of Long Ago," presented in costume by Miss Louise Lanaster, assisted by F. Stanley McCusker.

Miss Evelyn Barylet, crayon and rapid sketch artist.

Lecture, "Community Ideals" by Dr. Daniel D. Vaughn, Professor of Social Service, Boston University. Dr. Vaughn is an expert both in theory and practice.

The Little Symphony Orchestra, with Aaron Richmond, the Boston Impresario, and manager of many celebrated artists will be in personal charge.

Lecture, "The Turning of the Tide," by Denton C. Crowl, member of the editorial staff of the Detroit Journal, Toledo Blade, Newark, N. J. Star Eagle and magazine writer.

The Fadedettes Military Band of Boston. Fifteen talented women musicians. Program will include opera selections, popular airs, favorite waltzes and inspiring marches. Two concertos.

The Junior Hippodrome will be staged during the week for the young people. New stories, games and many jolly surprises have been worked out for this Junior department.

Sunday evening exercises will be of a religious nature and arranged by the local Association.

Baptist Church Notes

Thursday, C. E., 7:30: "How to Overcome Difficulties" Leader, Fred Starbird.

Saturday, Prayer Circle at 7. Men's in the vestry, women's at 35 Marston Street.

Christian Endeavor service at 6:30, subject being, "Applying Religion to Everyday Life." Interesting service is promised for the public at 7:30, when the pastor will speak upon, "Ulysses S. Grant."

The midweek service is held Thursday evening at 7:30.

Methodist Church Notes

Next Sunday morning the sermon topic will be "To Each One His Work." Evening worship at 7 p. m. with sermon on "Broken Dreams and Better Hopes."

The Sunday School at 12. Epworth League at 6 p. m. using the topic "Growing a Character—The Soil." Reference Mark 4, 2-9.

Mrs. S. I. Jackson, St. Petersburg writes: "Arrived at City of Rome, Savanah Line after an auto trip down the country to Tampa through Ocala, and so back to St. Petersburg, which we have decided is the home city in the Sunshine State. Will write up the trip later. Please send paper to Green Elms."

Services will be held Sunday morning at 10:30 at Christ Church, Paris Street. Dean Schuyler of St. Luke's Cathedral of Portland will conduct the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lary of Gilead will move to Norway next week. They are going to live at Round Pond and care for "The Farm" for F. W. Sanborn.

Mr. and Mrs. Lary were at "The Farm" some seven years previous to going to Gilead nearly ten years ago.

The Annual Roll Call supper of Lake Temple Pythian Sisters will be held Tuesday evening, May 2. Supper will be served at 6:45. Members are expected to respond to the roll call with a quotation.

A team has been engaged to collect the food for the supper. After supper will be the regular meeting followed by a short program after which there will dancing with music by White's Orchestra. The entertainment and dance is in charge of Mrs. Margaret Dyer.

A large delegation of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs attended divine worship at the Congregational church Sunday morning. The Alfred Kimball Canton of South Paris attended in full uniform as invited guests of the Norway lodge.

Mrs. Alice Oxnard had been spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Staples at Portland.

Considerable work has been done on the infield at the fair grounds to make the baseball diamond one of the fastest in the state. Clay and gravel hauled last fall have been spread and rolled and uneven spots made smooth. A roller will be used frequently during the next few weeks.

Two touring cars loaded with gypsies landed in town Wednesday afternoon and the women began their customary vocation along Main street. The business was cut short and the outfit hastily packed up and "beat it."

Mrs. Robert J. Bruce of Portland received word of the serious illness of her mother in Bethel, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Bruce immediately started for Pennsylvania but her mother passed away before she reached home.

Sues for Breach of Promise

Mrs. Jeanette Freemando, a former vaudeville actress, who is pianist at the Rex, and who sued Henry J. Santos, chef of the DeWitt Hotel with breach of promise at the Supreme Court at Auburn, collapsed and fainted over in her chair without warning. She was carried from the room by her attorney, Frank A. Morey with the assistance of the court officers and taken to the office of the assistant county probation officer, Mrs. Frances L. Kelley, on the first floor.

As she did not revive and there were indications that her condition was becoming more serious, Court Officer Maher summoned a physician. He succeeded in reviving the young woman shortly after her arrival. He stated that her collapse was brought about by hysteria.

Mrs. Freemando was formerly well known to followers of vaudeville, for she played on the B. F. Keith circuit for several years. She was married several years ago and is the mother of a child. Her first husband died a few years after marriage. She then met Chef Santos. Friendship ripened to a better understanding, and plans for a wedding were laid she says.

Then, claims the former actress, the well known hotel chef broke his promise of marriage and the engagement was shattered.

Santos admitted knowing the young woman but emphatically denied ever promising to marry her. The young woman's collapse followed.

Attorney Morey announced for Mrs. Freemando during the evening that a satisfactory settlement had been reached between the parties, and that the court case had been dropped.

The last meeting of the season of the Barton Reading Club was held Thursday, April 27, with the president, Mrs. George A. Brooks.

Mrs. Cyrus S. Tucker will entertain the Circle Whist, Saturday evening.

Bob Burns, the jazzing trombonist has been secured for a feature at the May ball to be given here May 4.

Mrs. Sarah McAllister, who has spent the winter with her niece, Mrs. Hazel Conary and family, has returned to her home in East Stoneham.

Mrs. Stella Deane of West Paris was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lewis.

Mrs. Izah Allen of North Paris is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Roy Snow and family for a few days.

Abigail Whitman, Chapter D. A. R. will meet with Mrs. H. L. Barrett, Wednesday evening, May 3. This is the annual meeting with the election of officers.

The roll call will be answered by "Facts Regarding Our Constitution." Mrs. Laura Sanborn will conduct the study of parliamentary law. The nominating committee consists of Mrs. Evis Cook, Mrs. Lucia Merriam, Mrs. Sadie Martin and the auditing committee, Mrs. Gertrude Libby, Mrs. Lena Andrews, Mrs. Rita Kimball, Mrs. Emma Sargent and Mrs. Eva Chick.

Ball have the social in charge and each member will carry a small plate of refreshments.

Mrs. Rebecca T. Daboll is spending two weeks in Auburn with her grandson, Ernest B. Ham and family. She celebrated her 81st birthday and in honor of the occasion was generously remembered with gifts. Mrs. Daboll is smart and active, always occupied with some piece of fancy work or crocheting.

Mrs. Frank Danforth who has been spending the winter at Southern Pines, N. C. returned home Wednesday. Mrs. Danforth stood the trip very well after her illness which she suffered the past winter. Her niece, Mrs. J. B. Swett of Southern Pines accompanied her to Boston and her brother, Rev. C. R. Tenney came to Norway with her.

Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Nichols of Skowhegan are visiting their daughter, Mrs. W. L. Brooks on Marston street a few days. Mr. Nichols was former pastor of the Methodist church and Norway friends are glad to see them again.

F. W. Walker plans to run a bus line service from Norway to Lewiston this season, making two trips a day.

There will be a dance at the Haywood Club Hall Saturday night, April 29th. Good music.

Mr. and Mrs. John Houston and daughter Edith of Portland are expected to arrive Saturday to spend the season at the Lake. They have rented Percy Y. Fogg's cottage.

Mrs. Clara A. Hayden, who has been ill is gaining slowly.

Alfred L. Dyer went to Portland Saturday to begin his three years government agricultural course. His family will remain at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hayden motored from Manchester, Mass. Wednesday and spent Thursday with relatives here.

Noble's Corner

Mrs. Sarah Heath who has spent the winter with her son Timothy Heath at the village returned to her home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cox went to Lewiston, Tuesday.

Mrs. Emma Packard planted peas, the first of this week.

Oliver Merrill is working for Otis Holt on the fruit store.

Guy Curtis and Perley Russell are dragging the road.

Fred Hersey and teams have got home from Stoneham where he has been working for Winfield Brown.

WEST SUMMER

Mrs. Mary Jane Pulsifer, who is 93 years old and has been boarding at H. E. Pulsifer's for the winter, is going to her home April 30, to live this summer.

James Heald, having sold his farm, is now moving to East Sumner.

H. M. Grant, the blacksmith, has gone away for the river drive.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wheeler have gone to Lewiston to visit their son, who is connected with the Salvation Army.

Y. C. Keene has purchased the house owned by Mrs. Lydia Barrett.

Elsie Hazeltine is working for Mrs. Edith Newell.

Mrs. Lang is housekeeper for Garrison Doble.

The jaws of Europe are wagging on American chewing gum. Efforts were made at different times to popularize chewing gum in the countries of Europe, but always without success until the American soldiers took some over there, after which the gum-chewing habit became a veritable craze.

Chewing gum to the value of $2,164,290 was exported by the United States during the year 1919, and England was the heaviest purchaser. During the war chewing gum became very popular in the munitions factories of England, where it took the place of smoking. It was found that the place of

Gift of One Thousand Dollars

Mrs. Kate Stuart on April 24th received a check of $1,000.00 from Charles Deering of Chicago, a gift to the Seneca Club for the Public Library Fund, which makes a total amount he has given $5,000.

Besides the splendid lot corner of Pleasant and Church streets and the two houses thereon, the amount of the fund is $7,500. Consequently sometime in the near future the project of building will be considered.

Mrs. Stuart whose daughter, Olive Stuart, was a member of the Seneca Club, and its president at the time of her death has always manifested a great deal of interest in the club, and through her communications with the Deerings, who were old time neighbors and the various checks have been received.

Congregational Church Notes

The subject of the sermon for next Sunday morning is "Christian Fundamentals." We hear a great deal these days about fundamentalism, that is of a reactionary nature. This is a discussion of fundamentals that is different. In the evening at seven o'clock there will be an illustrated missionary lecture given in the vestry entitled "The Lure of Alaska." An offering for missions will be taken. The midweek Fellowship of Prayer meets Wednesday at 7 o'clock.

All those from this place who attended the Methodist Conference at Auburn Sunday, report a most interesting and profitable service.

Love and Jealousy

By WALTER J. DELANEY

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

Jealousy was the bane of Elvira Deane's life, but it centered itself upon one person solely. Her fiancé, Arthur Waltham, was a truly devoted lover, but before he had known Elvira he had been a pretty constant visitor at the Randall home, just across the street from that of Elvira, and that was enough to inject a sentiment of suspicion and dislike as to the daughter of the house—Blanche.

To Elvira she was a heartless flirt. By others she was considered companionable rather than flirtatious. She was a beautiful girl and loved variety and excitement. Everybody knew that she was engaged to a wealthy New Yorker, away in Europe, and the young men who danced attendance upon the exacting beauty were well aware of this fact, but the charm of her company was worth the seeking, even transiently.

As to Blanche herself, she had frankly told her intimate girl friends that she was bent upon the full enjoyment of life until she settled down into wifehood. Elvira was too sensible to tell Arthur Waltham of the secret pangs she had endured whenever she saw him enter the Randall home. It was possible that Blanche suspected her jealousy and took a certain delight in showing her supremacy over men in general. Only once had Waltham alluded to the circumstance of his being a good deal at the Randall home.

"Burton Randall and I were college chums and I count him as my dearest friend," he told Elvira. "Lately we have been rehearsing a little comedy we are to present before the alumni down at Old Chester, so we spend a good deal of time together."

That satisfied Elvira for the time being, but when she would see Waltham and Blanche in the garden of the Randall home her soul would expand with resentment. He always spent Thursday evening with Elvira, and she counted the hours until Sunday arrived, when she would have him with her again. One particular Friday was a day of morbid anxiety and wretchedness when, late in the afternoon, she saw Waltham enter the Randall home carrying a suit case. In a morbid mood Elvira watched from the curtained window, and when dinner was announced pleaded indisposition and sat at her post, a torturing jealousy gnawing at her heart. She aroused to a new token of interest as Waltham came out into the garden about dusk and opened the doors of the garage. He turned on the lights, worked about the automobile and then honked the horn. At once a hurrying figure arrayed in a dress Blanche wore frequently, for it was a favorite with her, and very tasteful and becoming, indeed, as Elvira had to acknowledge, came to the garage, was beset beside Waltham and away sped the machine.

"Oh, this is unbearable!" quavered Elvira. "If Arthur was all he pretends to be to me, he would have told me something about this. He placed a suitcase in the car, Blanche carried her wraps as if for a long drive and"—and there poor Elvira broke down utterly and sobbed forth her desolate misery for an hour or more.

All kinds of foolish notions filled her mind. She even imagined an elopement as the hours wore on, and she never removed her glance from the house opposite.

"You look wearied, quite ill," her mother commented as Elvira forced herself to come downstairs at breakfast, but Elvira made some trivial allusion as to a bad headache, and, eating little and talking less, immediately retired to her room to renew her miserable vigil.

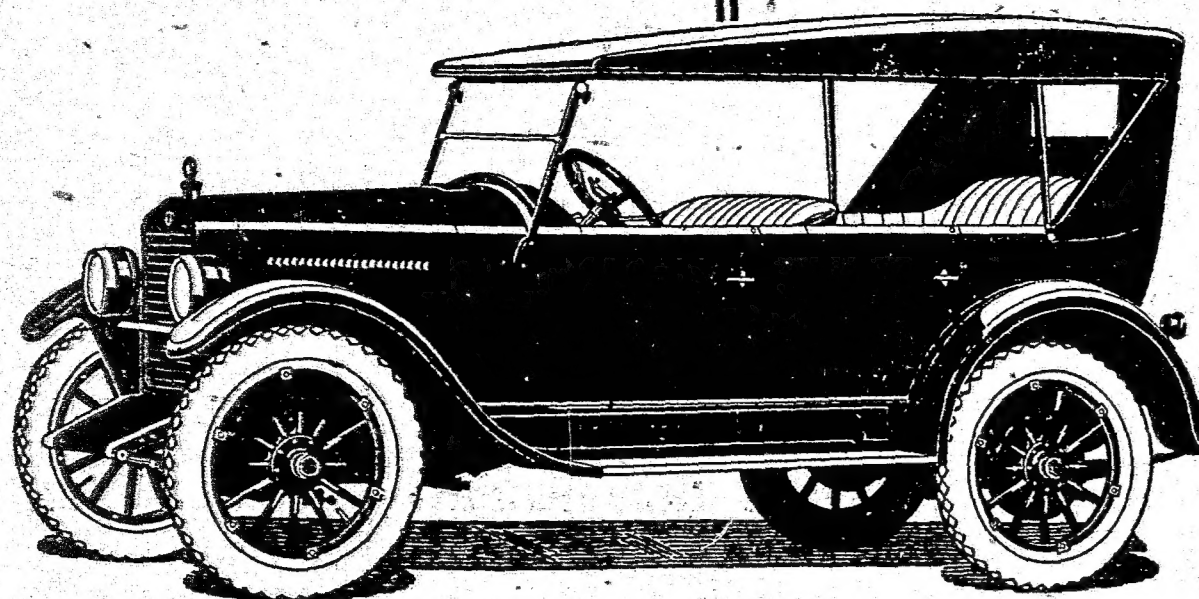

About ten o'clock in the morning the Randall automobile circled the street into the garage. The figure in that hateful, familiar dress went at once into the house. Elvira watched Elvira's heart to see her lover put her shoulder with a reckless familiarity that shocked her finer sensibilities.

With set lips and strongly determined eyes Elvira went out into the garden and seated herself on a rustic bench facing the home where Waltham seemed to be so welcome a visitor. Two thoughts were in her mind—to ask her parents to allow her to visit a relative at a distance for a prolonged period, to write Waltham that his brazen perfidy had placed a forever irremovable barrier against all the future.

The door of the house opposite opened. Arthur Waltham came down the steps, sprightly, smiling-faced. As he cast a glance at the home of his dear one he must have caught sight of the figure on the garden bench. Elvira shrank and sighed as he crossed the road, quickly leaped the hedge and was at her side.

"A complete success!" he cried buoyantly. "We got word, Burton and I, to come down to the alumni jam—see too late yesterday for me to get an explanation to you. Our little act, with him the heroine of our little

A New ESSEX

It was to prove ability and enduring qualities far beyond what any light car had ever shown that Essex made the tests resulting in its famous world's records.

But performance and reliability are not its only appeal. Its beauty of line and luxury of appointment are the work of years of leadership in car design. See the care and completeness even in the smallest detail. Its riding comfort and smooth, quiet running ease are qualities you will compare with high-priced cars. Yet Essex also gives light car advantages such as unusual tire, fuel and oil economy.

Judge it, not by the light car standards you have known, but by the much more exacting requirements of the large, costly cars. That is what makes its price all the more wonderful.

The Oldest Paint in the Newest Form

Dutch Boy Liquid Lead

Liquid Lead is simply the old-fashioned lead-in-oil, ready for use, mixed by the manufacturer of the white-lead instead of by the user. It is white paint and does not come colored, but can be tinted to any desirable color. It has the quality of the best white-lead paint, the convenience of being able to start painting as soon as the can is opened and the satisfaction of using a Dutch Boy product.

Dutch Boy Flat White

When a flat or semi-gloss finish is desired, as for interior walls and woodwork, use Dutch Boy Flat White. This is also a pure white-lead paint, but is designed to give flat effects, delicate in color, rich in tone, yet durable and washable.

Dutch Boy Paint is Economical

because of its great spreading capacity, which makes its cost per square foot less than many paints which cost the same per gallon and also because of its great wearing qualities. As it contains only pure materials and weighs over twenty pounds per gallon, it can be thinned and tinted in any manner desired. Call and investigate or send for a descriptive booklet.

Pottery Located

Editor of the Norway Adv.:—Having read in a recent issue of your good old home paper, I want to say that I was very much interested in an article from D. Crommet Clark, of Somerville, Mass., in regard to the old industries in Norway in years past, especially of the old pottery in Oxford. Now, I very well remember the place and think I can locate the very spot where jugs, milk pails, bean pots and several different things of clay were made there. The Pottery was very near the old Webber school house, stood about half a mile below Cold Water Brook on the left side of the road going from Norway.

I used to go to school there and lived at the Capt. Manson place in 1860, (as my father and mother worked for Manson, their name was Lovejoy, Josiah P.) and the scholars thought it great fun to go there in the noon hour and watch the men make the different articles of the clay. It was all done by very crude looking machinery. I don't remember the names of the men who worked there.

Also another industry at the Falls was a very interesting place for me and that was where Mr. Augustus Pottle used to make wooden ware, just at the left of the bridge at the Falls below, the old John Tucker mill in '61.

Mr. Pottle made me a little motor and pestle, (articles almost unknown now, especially by this generation,) it is in my possession now and a reminder of my childhood days in Norway. He also made butter trays, rolling pins, and other wooden ware. I also have a bureau made by Mr. Goodwin, who had a shop about where the Opera House now stands or where the place used to be called "Hungry Hollow." It was made for my mother when she was married. I have been offered $25.00 for it. It is made of pine mahogany with veneered front made over 80 years ago.

I well remember the paper mill at the Falls run by Mr. A. C. Dennison, also the iron foundry by Ephraim Brown; the saw mill run by Mr. Parkhurst, a man who used to wear a straw hat and a linen coat in winter. I can see him now, with long white beard. My folks lived in the same house with Mr. and Mrs. Parkhurst in the house called the Deacon Muzzy rent. The names of many of the old residents come to my mind as I recall those days: Horatio Downer, Winthrop Stevens, Job Crooker and many others as Norway was my birthplace and is very dear to me.

Yours respectfully,
Mrs. Rose P. Lovejoy Holt

Lessons From Birds

Two Norway women have a pair of canary birds. One of the women conceived the idea that they exchange the male canaries. It was done and in due time two little canaries were in each home nest. After the young birds had well started on their bird life, the male canaries were returned to their former mates and cages. They were apparently pleased to greet each other after a long absence.

This is what happened in one bird home: Dickie put his eyes on the occupants of the nest. He looked with one eye, he looked with the other, he looked with both, he beat his sides with his wings, puffed out his feathers and angry sounds rushed from his beak. Mrs. bird went on the defensive and the fight began. While no blows were exchanged, Mrs. bird had often to seek refuge in the bottom of the cage. Hate was written all over each bird but this was nothing like the big hate that came when Mr. bird examined the youngsters. He would not feed the birds, nor help care for them.

This lasted for a few days. Then he boldly walked to the nest seized one of the young birds, took it with a shake and threw it on the floor of the cage. Before he could get the other he was put in a cage by himself. The bird remaining in the nest soon followed in death the one that had been so violently put out of the world by an outraged father.

Dicky and this bird in their two cages simply sulked and were unhappy. One day a visitor who had heard the story said to Dicky, "You did just right. I do not blame you one bit," and other words of encouragement. Dicky bird was delighted. He showed in every way a bird could.

The other pair of birds were separated before murder was really committed. The bird differences have been settled, other little birds are now in each bird home.

The two women have learned a lesson in bird life.

Abbie J. Tubbs: "In your paper some weeks since, an item appeared saying that Mrs. Emma Cullinan was going to build on her corner lot on Greenleaf Ave. I have been asked a number of times if I have sold the corner lot to Mrs. Cullinan. I have not sold it to her, nor has she made any talk with me about buying it. Will you kindly correct the mistake in your issue this week."

Joshua C. Yeaton is over 84 and works every day. He does hard work too. On Friday, the 7th, he handled over 15 cords of wood at the end of gasoline wood-sawing outfit operated by his son, young Josh, as he is called. He says it does him good to work.

Mrs. F. G. McCarthy has joined her husband at Norway where they soon expect to open a Tea-Room. Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy for several years were proprietors of Macs Renovating Company of Livermore Falls where they made many friends who wish them success in their new field of labor.

John S. Richardson has sold his stock in trade at Gilmanton Corner, N. H., where he has been located the past five years. Mr. Richardson is a brother of Mrs. Mary J. Bennett.

Don Seitz writes in the Guide to Nature:—"The lord of my chicken yard at Cos Cob is a magnificent Rhode Island Red rooster, standing full twenty-six inches in height and built accordingly. In last year's crop of mail order youngsters under his jurisdiction, are a number of vigorous white Wyandotte cockerels. The other day a pair of these took umbrage at each other and engaged in fierce combat. The lordly Red walked over to the scene, leaped between the fighting pair, swept them apart with his wings and sternly ordered them to desist. I never saw such an action before on the part of bird or animal."

Ethel I. Bradbury of Portland was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Will Moore, Saturday.

Henry Davis has finished work at the Walker stable and has gone to East Stoneham to do carpentering.

A Possessor & a Passer

EVER notice the difference between a possessor of money and a passer? One is a possessor because he manages to keep a goodly portion of his earnings for himself. The other passes his money on to others as fast as he gets it. The possessor looks calm and unworried while the passer often looks anxious. The gulf between the two widens with time as the possessor keeps busy managing his estate, while the passer keeps on racing with the collector. Be a possessor.

JOSEPH ANDREWS LETTER

Dear Advertiser: Continuing my Love story: On Aug. 12, I walked down to Frank Chandler's where I spent the day. The Chandler home has changed but little since I first remember it about 1850. The Congregational church at the center was built about that time, and I, a little lad, seven or eight years of age, remember as though it were but yesterday, two very old men, at least they seemed very old to me, for they were toothless, bent with age and leaned heavily upon their canes, as they listened to the Gospel message as delivered by Pastor Wentworth. They were Cap. Stephen Barker and Mr. Chandler, the father of Chauncy Chandler and the grandfather of Frank Chandler.

On my second visit to Maine late in the fall of 1878, I walked out from West Fryeburg to James Cutler Stearns' at the Center where I visited over night, and the next morning walked down the road to the Congregational Church, the bell of which was slowly tolling, announcing the death of Chauncy Chandler. I entered the church, went up into the gallery and climbed the ladder to the belfry where I found Edwin Meserve tolling the bell. Edwin had succeeded his father as Sexton of the church. All through my boyhood days and until old age disqualified him for the task, Cyrus Meserve was the Sexton of the church. He tended to the church, rang the bell, dug the graves at the Cemetery. He was a faithful steward and looked after the wants of the church and cemetery.

On my third and fourth and I think fifth visit to Maine I found Will Chandler and his mother holding down the farm. Nine years ago I found the mother's chair vacant, and Will still running the farm. Frank had married and moved away. When I visited Lovell five years ago, I found Will in failing health. He had given up the farm to his brother Frank, and arranged with him and his wife to take charge of the Old Homestead Farm and give him a home the balance to his life. Will had passed on a year or two before this, my last visit, but I had a delightful visit with the family although saddened by the knowledge that Mrs. Chandler was in failing health. She was slowly wearing her life away. The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Chandler, her two brothers, Andrew and Gardner McAllister, their daughter Susie Watson and Miss Smith as housekeeper. Gardner McAllister has an interesting history. He served through the civil war and at its close went west and located at Pittsburgh, Pa., where he made his home for over thirty years, during which time he was on the police force of Pittsburgh and Bradock for twenty-seven years. He also has two sons living at Bradock.

On August 15th, I walked to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Stearns and mother "nee Annie Russell" with whom I enjoyed an old time visit and had dinner. In my school-boy days Anna Russell and Mary Heald were two of about forty bright eyed, handsome girls who attended the Center Lovell academy and with about the same number of stalwart, active boys made the Center school district one of the largest and most progressive to be found in dear old Oxford County. Today these two and A. M. Pottle and Frank Chandler are the only ones now living in the Center district. In the passing years death has claimed a liberal share. Yet scattered from Maine to California, I name about 20 gray haired men and women who were my schoolmates in those good old days.

When I was a boy Deacon Abel Heald who married my cousin Mary Stearns, lived in the large red house across from the store now greatly improved and called the Farrington house, I believe. Deacon Heald was one of the leading citizens of Lovell. He owned the store, had a large farm and lots of timberland and was counted quite wealthy. He was also my guardian and looked after my property rights until I was 21. I am quite sure that all of his twelve children were born in the red house, where I often visited them. What is now the Stearns home was then owned by Josiah Heald, a brother of Abel, and I think that the big house was built about 1820 by their father Deacon Josiah Heald.

About 1860 Dr. Josiah Heald having become a dentist, moved to Portland and sold the old Homestead farm to his brother Abel, who spent a small fortune in fixing it up as it is today, one of the finest farm homes in Lovell, which makes its present owners an ideal country home.

After dinner I visited the near by Cemetery and spent two hours viewing and reading the inscriptions upon many of the marble, granite and slate stones, monuments and markers erected to the memory of many of my old friends and neighbors. While most of my near kin were laid away in the West Fryeburg cemetery, more than 20 of them are sleeping beneath the friendly sod of the Center Cemetery. My grandfather Cap. Abraham Andrews and his two wives, also my father's first wife and two of my aunts, the wives of Cap. Stephen Barker and David Stearns, also six first cousins and their wives and husbands, Major John Barker, Daniel Warren, Stephen, Horatio, Caleb and Obed Stearns, and Abel Heald.

I noticed a vast improvement in the care of the Cemetery from what it was on my last visit four years ago. A cemetery association has been formed and an attempt to raise a fund for the perpetual care of the grounds made. Deacon A. M. Pottle writes me that they now have over $1,200 cash in the treasury. Last made that they planned, because they could not hire the men to do the work.

From the Cemetery I walked down to the Benjamin Russell farm where I enjoyed an over night visit with him and his housekeeper, Mrs. Ada Brackett. I found Mr. Russell a very busy man. Besides being a progressive farmer he is a carpenter and contractor, and has charge of the telephone line. According to the list of highest tax payers published in the Advertiser two or three years ago he enjoyed the distinction of paying the highest tax of any one in Lovell. During the civil war when the town paid a bounty of $300.00 for each soldier that enlisted for the war, and we had a big town debt which was paid of in three years, the Woods brothers of the village paid the highest tax. Although not as famous as the houses of gables at Salem, Mass. of which Hawthorne wrote, and which I visited nine years ago, there is scarce an old homestead in Lovell Center but that has an interesting history dating back almost to the Century mark. In the early half of the last century, my grandfather, Cap. Abraham Andrews and his family founders of the "Tribe of Abraham" forms an interesting part. The ten farms upon which he and three of his children, and seven of his grandchildren settled are none of them more than two miles distant from the historic old town-house and church still standing after more than a century of usefulness, and venerated by us old timers who have wandered far away. Of those ten families and farms, the Old Andrews homestead comes first. It was long owned by Charles Andrews of the "Tribe of Samuel" and now I believe by his son.

My aunt Betsy Andrews married Capt. Stephen Barker and established his home on Barker's Hill, just beyond the Russell farm. Betsy Barker married Daniel Warren and lived on the farm latter owned by Josiah Colby and Ellen Ann Barker married Obed Stearns who lived across the lake in West Lovell.

My aunt Esther Andrews married Capt. Stephen Heald and their home was at Lovell village. Of them I will write later. My aunt Sally Andrews married David Stearns and their home was what is now the George Evans farm at the Center. They raised up a family of four boys and four girls, of the boys Stephen lived on the B. Pottle place, Horatio had the home farm at the Center and Caleb the farm where Fred Stearns now lives. Timothy was kicked by a horse and died. Of the girls two married and moved away. Mary married Abel Heald and raised up a family of twelve children. After her death Harriet Stearns became Mr. Heald's second wife. They had one child, Willie who only lived a year or so.

My Uncle Isaac Andrews owned a farm and home just across the road from the Dean Russell home, where he raised up a family of two girls and 3 boys. After the death of his first wife he removed less than a mile up Sabatons road where he bought an old abandoned farm called the McAllister lot, on which he built a large two story house and a barn. The house he painted red, and in the spring of 1850 married my mother then living in Fryeburg and moved us three into the big red house in Lovell where we lived until by mothers death in 1865 when he went to Iowa with his son, Jacob. My sister married and settled in Fryeburg, and I sold the farm and sought for home and fortune upon the prairies of the west.

Late last fall Mr. Pottle wrote me that the apple crop in Lovell was good, that the Baxters bought 3,800 barrels of apples, paying $2.25 a barrel for same and were canning them at the corn shop. Also that at a special town meeting it was voted to sell the poor farm buildings and cleared land and also build a school house at the village to cost $8,000. And that the belfry of the Congregational Church at the Center, wrecked last summer by a wind storm had been repaired. Under date of Jan. 14th he also wrote me that he had his years wood nearly all split and ready for the wood shed, and his ice house filled and covered. All so that it had been very sickly and hard to find well ones enough to take care of the sick ones. That Elwell Andrews is still lame and that he felt able to use it very much. He also says that he wishes he had some of your oats at the price you sell them for, that they are 62 cents a bushel there. Oats at that time were about 17 cents a bushel on the farm at Hurley, a difference of 45 cents, quite a profit for the "Middle Man."

My renter writes me from the farm that they have not bought a pound of coal this winter. They burn wood and coals raised upon the place, and are greatly encouraged at the steady upturn in the prices of corn, oats and hogs.

Spanish Green Olive, Beet and Potato Salad

A salad bears the same relation to your dinner as a hat does to your costume. A piece of half-ripe tomato dropped carelessly on a leaf of lettuce and served as a salad will detract from a dinner no matter how attractive and tasty the remaining courses may be. So many new yet simple salads are being composed constantly that there is no excuse for neglecting this feature of your dinner. Here is one that will appeal:

Cut cold boiled potatoes into cubes and to two cups add one small onion grated, a half pint bottle of green olives cut in rings, a teaspoon of capers, and one pickled beet also cut in rings with small vegetable cutter. Mix lightly, taking care not to break the olive and beet rings, and serve in lettuce hearts with boiled or French dressing.

OXFORD

Legion Minstrels
The second annual minstrel show to be given by the Ex-service boys of the Oxford Sanatorium was produced at Robinson theatre, Tuesday evening. The theatre was packed to the street with every body happy.

The show was put on with a first part, introducing the regular circle, endmen and specialty acts. There were witty jokes, good singing and fun galore, blended into a well balanced program. The olio were classy and the artists made a decided hit. Dancing followed from 9 until 12, music by Reidy's orchestra of Portland, six pieces. The proceeds will be for the New Catholic church. A good sum was realized from a sale of refreshments. Program:

Albert Smart with team is working for J. E. Flint.

The sick ones all seem to be gaining now. Millard Adams is working for John Flint.

Pretty cold weather for a few nights last week; one night ice formed one half inch thick. Grass is looking fine here for the time of year.

The corn man, E. A. Jordan from Harrison was through here a few days ago and a number of farmers signed up for corn.

WATERFORD
Mr. Jones went to Warren to preach Sunday, so we had no church services.

John Wentworth of North Bridgton is treating the hotel to a new coat of paint.

Miss Wilkins had the misfortune to lose her horse, Fannie, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Poole from Oakland are working at the Lake House this summer.

The fishing in the lake is very good this spring.

My rounds returned to her school in Massachusetts, Wednesday, after spending her Easter vacation with her mother, Mrs. Rounds.

The Circle dinner Thursday was well patronized and a very nice dinner served. A number of people from the Flat went to the surprise party at Will Goodwin's at South Waterford. All had a good time. They played cards, had eight tables. Ice cream and cake was served after the games.

EAST BETHEL
East Bethel church has been reshingled the past week, work being done by community help and contributions.

Mrs. Lucetta Bean, Mrs. Marietta Bartlett and Mrs. Agnes Howe were Easter Sunday guests of Mrs. Octavia Bean, also Mr. and Mrs. Ceylon Kimball and family were Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bartlett.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeborn Bean and two children of Rumford were Sunday callers here.

W. C. Blake is this week's guest of his brother, Charles G. Blake and family at Bethel.

O. G. Kimball, Bethel was last week's guest of relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Russell and son of Rumford were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Farwell.

Mrs. Lucetta Bean has gone to Hallowell to do dressmaking.

R. L. Swan, Ceylon Kimball and others are reshingling their buildings.

No, keeping everlastingly at it does not necessarily bring success. It enables a person to go out and achieve it.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

MOTHER TOAD.

"There are some creatures," said Mother Toad, "who are most peculiar, but in spite of that fact I like them."

"What is peculiar about them and who do you mean?" asked Mrs. Teddy Toad.

"Well, people are funny," said Mother Toad. "Mothers only have a mere handful of children about them, a mere handful."

"I've never seen them carrying their children upon their hands," said Mrs. Toad. "Sometimes I've seen them carrying one baby in the arms, or one child upon the shoulders, but a lot of children in the hand—never."

"How then do you say that they have a handful of children?"

"I mean," said Mother Toad, "that they don't have thousands of children like I do. I didn't mean they carried their children around in their hands, but that they don't have enough to count so that they would amount to a good number."

"I, you see, have thousands, and so do you."

"But even though I am so different from people I like them. They're strange and tall and they walk instead of hop and they eat roast beef and ice cream instead of slugs and worms and little insects, but still I like them."

"So do I," said Mrs. Teddy Toad.

"You see," said Mother Toad, "I think creatures are absurd who only like those who do just the same, and think just the same as they do themselves."

"That's where I am different and I love folks lots better and have lots better a time because of that. Just suppose I said, 'No, I don't like her; she wears dresses, whereas I, the toad, do not.' Now, wouldn't that be absurd?"

"Toads help people because they like them. They do a lot of good work in the gardens, just quantities of good work, and upon the farms, too."

"But I haven't much use for folks who're always disliking everyone who doesn't think the same and dress the same and act the same as they do."

"They miss so much joy out of life, and, besides, people who want everyone else to agree with them are so conceited. They have the manner as though they knew it all and were the only ones who were right."

"But I was saying how different people are from toads. I presume they think they're pretty different, too," she laughed.

"I guess they do," said Mrs. Teddy Toad.

"Oh, well, no matter; they think the truth," said Mother Toad.

"Now I lay eleven thousand eggs as a rule in a pool. Sometimes they change right into toads in a few hours. We don't wait for months like the frogs in order to become something."

"Just think of being the mother of eleven thousand children all at once. That is something to be proud of. And everyone of the eleven thousand children helps on farms and in gardens."

"Did you ever hear of Mother Kangaroo, by the way? I heard of her the other day when some children were talking. It seems she has a little sack under the front of her, where she keeps her children for protection when danger is near—sort of swallows them, you know."

"Now, that is an interesting thing if it is true, and I fancy it must be, for I've heard it from so many different people, though I will admit I've never seen it happen myself."

"Of course, I suppose it is because I'm not around where kangaroos are. But, oh dear, oh dear, how I love to think of eleven thousand little toads! It must be awful to think of only a half dozen children. But I suppose, their mothers feel that it would be horrible to think of eleven thousand children to wash and to put to bed, or to send to bed when they got older and could go by themselves. And they'd need several schools for one family."

"So I suppose it is all right that they have their own ways, but I'm glad I'm a mother toad, and have a mother toad's ways!"

The Reason Why:
My sister, aged five, had come to the table with very dirty hands, and mother said to her: "Mabel, go and wash your hands immediately. Did you ever see me come to the table with hands like that?" "No, mother, of course not," answered Mabel, "but I didn't know you when you were five years old."—Illustrated News.

Thought He'd Never Be Able To Work Again

So. Portland Citizen Became So Weak From Stomach Trouble He Had to Give Up Position. Tanlac Soon Put Him Back On Job

"I had given up my work and thought I'd never be able to take it up again, but since taking Tanlac I'm back at work and never miss a day," said Andrew O. Peterson, 103 Ocean St., South Portland, Me.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and had practically lost my appetite. I ate scarcely enough to keep alive and even then I bloated up with gas until it pressed up into my chest and almost choked me, and the pains and cramps were so severe I could hardly stand them. My sleep was broken and I finally became so weak I had to stop work and I almost lost hope of ever being able to work again."

"But since I have taken five bottles of Tanlac, I am feeling like a new man. I am stronger than I have been in years, I get up in the morning ready for a big day's work, and never felt better in all my life than I do right now."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

BATES—WEST PARIS

Quincy Adams Day
Quincy Adams Day died at his home on Greenwood St. Wednesday morning, April 19, after a long and painful illness. He gave up work last November doing only small chores around the house for a while. During the last month or so he has had night and day nurses, George Jackson, and two brothers stayed alternate with him and will bury him.

Mr. Day was born in Woodstock, Oct. 9, 1861 (60 years old) and was the son of Daniel and Martha Poyers Day. He married Minnie Adams who survives with their two children Gerald A., a freshman in W. P. High and Martha L. a few years younger. Three brothers, Bert and Alton Day of West Paris and Alden Day of Oxford, and a step-sister, Mrs. Flora Widdler, Arlington, Mass., also survive him. He was kind-hearted, honest and industrious. For a long time he has worked for the Paris Mfg. Co. which closed during the funeral. The workmen gave a beautiful floral piece for the funeral, also High school in sympathy for the son and the Helping Hands class in the Federated Sunday School of which Mrs. Day is the Pres. also gave a wreath.

There was a beautiful piece from the L. O. O. F. and Rebekahs of which he was a member and a beautiful lot of other flowers. The funeral was held in the Baptist church Friday afternoon, the L. O. O. F. and Rebekahs attended in a body and performed their burial service. Rev. C. G. Miller of South Paris officiated. Interment in West Paris Cemetery.

Mrs. Lottie Allen

Mrs. Lottie Allen, wife of William H. Pratt died last Friday night at the C. M. G. Hospital, Lewiston, where she went for an operation of hernia caused from a former operation. The operation was successful but then complications arose that could not be met. Her death is especially sad because she was in the prime of life and had two small children, Arlene about seven years and a baby a few months old who much needs a mother's care. She was the daughter of Quin Allen who lives at North Paris. Her mother died several years ago. She leaves two brothers, Bert and Arthur Allen. She was about 35 years old.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon in the Universalist church with Rev. J. H. Little of Bethel to attend the services. There were beautiful floral tributes.

The young people of the place gave Mrs. Laura M. LeBay a wedding shower at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Eardley Saturday evening. A beautiful lot of gifts were presented. A fine musical program and a treat of ice cream and cake was served. Mr. LeBay was off on a few days vacation and Arthur Welcome of Waltham, Mass. was also there on a visit.

Farewell Party

A farewell party was given in honor of Mrs. Minnie Coffin at the home of Mrs. Walter Aldrich Tuesday evening by the Federated Aid and Helping Hands Class. It was a perfect surprise to Mrs. Coffin. About twenty-five were present. A short entertainment of readings and music was given at the close of which a leather traveling correspondence case was presented to her in loving remembrance which was another surprise to her. Ice cream and cake were served.

The Finnish people had a sale at their church Wednesday. Fancy and useful articles and ice cream were sold for the benefit of the church.

The Annual Meeting of the West Paris Library Association will be held at the library room next Monday evening. All interested in the library should be present.

There was a preaching service at the Universalist church Sunday. Rev. Miss Forbes of Turner spoke on the "After Glow of Easter."

Considerable excitement was caused Wednesday when it was found that Bernard Small and Eugene Penley, two young lads had skipped school and could not be found. The boys' parents and a lot of other men went out late in the afternoon to hunt in all directions. They found evidences of them at Snows Falls. They were finally found at South Paris and sent home on the evening train. The mill whistles were both blown to notify the hunters that the lost were found.

The body of Miss Keough was brought here from Auburn for burial last Sunday. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Keough former residents of this place.

NORTH WATERFORD

Rev. C. N. Eliopoulos spent last week at Portland, Biddeford, Saco and Westbrook doing his Greek work. Friday, M. he gave an address to the Ladies' Missionary Society at Westbrook and in the evening took supper with the Saunders family who used to live here.

Mrs. M. Ella Charles and Mell Knight were called to Auburn Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Byron Bisbee.

The Norway high school drama that was presented here Friday night was a nice little play and each one took their parts first class. There was a large attendance.

Mrs. George Kimball was a guest at her sister's, Mrs. George Hobson's, Friday.

Albert Brown was at North Lovell, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Holden Savin were Sunday guests at Mell Knight's, they also called on Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Hazleton. Annie Hazelton is having a piazza built on the front side of her house 467 ft.

Rice Neighborhood

Mrs. Burnham Rice, Rufus Rice and Lewis Decker visited at her parents', Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell's on Tuesday.

Charles H. Hovey is busy working on his hot beds for his tomato plants.

Charles Saunders is working with his team on the roads. Burnham Rice is also working for Arthur Millett on the roads.

George H. Rice attended the A. W. Walker & Son's Field Day at South Paris on April 19.

Mrs. Burnham Rice and son Rufus, also Mrs. Rice were over to Mrs. Llewellyn Millett's on Friday. It was a long walk for a little boy not quite five years old. He is a strong and sturdy little fellow.

Jack Matheson has sold some hay to Burnham Rice. Guy Rice is assisting with the chores at Mrs. Matheson's.

Americans must forget their superior airs and mingle freely with their foreign-born neighbors if true Americanization is to be affected. This nation cannot exist half foreign and half American, and the responsibility rests with the native born.

BRYANT'S POND

Otis Noyes Captain
For the first time in the history of debating at the University of Maine, an Oxford county man has been elected captain of one of the Teams. He is Otis Noyes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace F. Noyes of Bryant Pond. Noyes who is a senior at the University, was elected captain of the negative team last week, by a unanimous vote. In the first debate held under Noyes' leadership, the Maine negative team easily defeated New Hampshire State, winning the vote of each of the judges.

Noyes prepared for college at Woodstock and at Deering high schools. In his sophomore year at Maine, he won a Y. M. C. A. Scholarship, and was also a member of the Varsity Minstrels. He is a member of the Economics Club and of Sigma Phi Sigma fraternity.

Mrs. Horace Noyes is at Welchville taking care of her daughter, Mrs. George Brooks who has been very sick for some weeks.

Willie Morgan is digging his cellar for his new house. He bought the lot next beyond Rupert Hathaway's on the Rumford road.

Mrs. Ronello Davis visited her son Owen and family at Locke's Mills, Tuesday.

Emily J. Felt visited Mrs. Frank P. Cole last Tuesday.

Mrs. Anna Day spent Easter week in Portland with her son Lewis.

Mrs. Katie Francis who spent several weeks with her sister, Mrs. Ellen Libby, has returned to her home in Lynn, Mass.

George Stenning came home from Portland Hospital Monday, his hand is doing well.

Ladies' Bureau Meeting

Boy Run Over By Automobile

Wilson Bartlett, aged 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Bartlett, who reside on Pearl street, was knocked down and injured by a car driven by Charles P. Kimball, shortly after 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The boy sustained numerous bruises and thoroughly shaken up. No bones were broken and if no internal injuries develop, the little fellow has a chance to pull through all right. The accident comes as a severe nervous shock. The accident occurred while Wilson and a number of boys were playing ball in the street opposite his home. Eye witnesses claim the automobile approached at a high rate of speed. The radiator struck the boy and rolled ahead of the car, between the front wheels, passing over his body. Fortunately he escaped the wheels and the bruises were sustained from the impact and during the rolling process as the car passed over him. He received medical attention at his home.

Mr. Kimball was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Harry O. Stimson and charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He was arraigned in the Norway Municipal Court before Judge Van F. Jones, Thursday forenoon and pleaded not guilty. As his attorney was not in town, a continuance was granted to Monday at 9 A. M. The respondent was held in the sum of $300 for his appearance at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leavitt have moved from Lynn, Mass., and will make their home with Mrs. Leavitt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Faunce. Their son, John will remain in Lynn, where he has employment.
